Congress Will Probe Waste Of Manpower

Duties Of Public Relations Men In Pentagon Draw Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional investigations planned today to turn from goods to people in a search for waste in the military services.

Chairman Hebert (D-La.) said his House Armed Services subcommittee will investigate the 161,517 employees of Washington's Defense Headquarters to see if there is a "waste in manpower."

Called Alibi Artists

But first the group will probe the activities of an estimated 500 public relations officials—Hebert calls them "alibi artists"—to determine if they are more interested in "spreading propaganda than in giving information." All this will begin in perhaps two weeks.

Hebert said his subcommittee is "concerned with waste in any form. Waste of manpower means waste of tax dollars."

He said the armed services have more "officers and civilians on duty in the Washington area now than at the height of World II."

Contradicted Figures

The Pentagon immediately supplied contradictory figures.

It said 21,000 officers of all services now are stationed in the Washington area, including sections of nearby Maryland and Virginia. A total of 59,000 enlisted personnel and 91,517 civilians also are on duty in this area.

On April 30, 1945, the Pentagon said, the figures were: officers, 37,016, enlisted personnel, 74,224 and civilians 98,048.

Hebert Accused Pentagon

The question of manpower first arose when Hebert accused the Pentagon 10 days ago of a campaign to "deliberately distort" the results of the subcommittee's investigation into buying practices. He demanded a list of public relations officials.

The chairman asserted at a committee hearing yesterday the Pentagon list was short at least 211 names. The Pentagon named 73 in this department.

Hebert told reporters "There are 500 publicity people in the Pentagon. If the Pentagon covered up 211 names in its list of propagandists the same thing undoubtedly is being done in other departments."

Bad Insurance Sale To Ohio GIs Checked

COLUMBUS (AP)—Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber has taken steps to prevent members of the 37th Infantry Division, from being bilked by "questionable" insurance companies, it was disclosed yesterday.

Many of the former Ohio National Guardsmen who now are training at Camp Polk, La., have bought 20-year-endowment policies from small insurance firms, then dropped them after a few months because they could not afford them.

The agents and insurance companies then keep the money the soldiers have paid in.

In a letter to Walter A. Robinson, Ohio superintendent of insurance, Gen. Kreber said he was posting orders regulating insurance sales in order to control "the indiscriminate sale of insurance by questionable companies."

Gen. Kreber said $15,000,000 worth of life insurance was sold to another National Guard division which trained at Camp Polk last year, even though every member of the division had $10,000 worth of National Service Life Insurance.

Many of the firms currently selling insurance in Camp Polk are licensed in Texas, where a license can be obtained if a firm has a capitalization of only $10,000. Ohio law requires a capitalization of $100,000 and other requirements.

Indictment Cracks Huge Narcotics Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police worked swiftly today to round up 23 men and women named in an indictment that U. S. Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger confidently predicted will "crack the heart" of the illegal heroin trade.

Narcotics agents said the indictment struck at a multi-million dollar conspiracy strung like a web from coast to coast.

It was returned by a federal grand jury yesterday afternoon and arrests began from San Francisco to New York.

Nine of those indicted had been arrested by early today.

Six of the 23 were already in jail on previous convictions or awaiting sentencing.

The indictment grew from two years of investigation and took six and a half months to present to the federal grand jury here.

The investigation was spiced with the fiction-like adventures of a narcotics agent who wormed into the ring as a peddler and almost lost his life as he dug out information on the higher-ups.

The agent, Michael Picini, was to be "taken care of" by triggermen, fellow agents said, but pulled out in time.

Gentry said Abe "The Trigger" Chapman was Pacific Coast distributor, with headquarters in San Francisco. Chapman, of San Mateo, Calif., is now serving 15 years in McNeil Island prison for narcotics conspiracy.

Most of those indicted have long criminal records. Some are former gang members and several have been convicted on narcotics charges.

Bail was set at $10,000 each. Those remaining at large were: John Durand, 37; Phoenix, Ariz.; John R. Phelps, 43, formerly of Isleton, Calif., believed to be in Phoenix; Barney Gold, 41, of Chicago; Joseph Littman, 35, of Patterson, N. J.;

Robert L. Reynolds, 36, of St. Paul, Minn.; Peter S. Haines, 55, of Palto Alto, Calif.; Eddie Sahati, 44, of Reno, Nev.; and Woody Zaine, 40, of Reno, Nev.

The 24-count indictment charges 69 acts in the conspiracy from August, 1950, to April, 1951. Eighteen of the defendants, charged with conspiracy and one other count, face sentences, if convicted, of 15 years and $7,000 fine each.

Violates Probation, Goes Back To Jail

LISBON — A Wellsville probationer arrested early Thursday in a barroom fight was helped Friday in the Common Pleas Court ring here.

Judge Joel H. Sharp terminated freedom for Paul Smith, 26, and sentenced him to a 1-15 year term in the State Reformatory at Mansfield.

A laborer at the Crucible Steel Co. in Midland, Smith made five-year probation Feb. 23, 1951, after pleading guilty to robbing Heddlerton's Grocery in East Liverpool in September, 1950.

He was back before the judge in July when he and two companions knocked down stop signs in Irondale and stripped cars at a brick plant, but was given a "last chance."

Wellsville Patrolmen Robert Wellington and Pete Trainer arrested Smith and Joe Young at 1:40 a. m. Thursday in the New House Cafe, and charged them with disorderly conduct.

Both were fined $25 and costs Thursday by Mayor C. C. Leath-erberry but Young's fine was suspended.

Weak Bleachers Blamed For Ice Show Accident

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore's Public Works Director yesterday issued a report charging that the Sonja Henie ice show bleachers which collapsed and injured 235 persons Thursday night were of flimsy construction.

Paul L. Holland, citing a city inspector's report, said the load on the stands was as much as eight times the carrying capacity of the supports.

Western Union Race Wires In Ohio To Be Cut

Show Cause Order Issued By State Utilities Commission

COLUMBUS (AP)—The State Utilities Commission cracked down on the Western Union Telegraph Co. yesterday by ordering it to show cause within 10 days why it should not shut down all race wire service in Ohio.

The Commission said certain lessees of Western Union wires, notably Continental Press Service of Cleveland, were using the wires for illegal purposes.

The Commission today issued subpoenas to eight persons, including Arthur A. "Mickey" McBride of Cleveland, to testify at a hearing in Columbus March 19. McBride is the founder and former owner of Continental Press.

Records To Be Scanned

Most of the eight were ordered to bring detailed records of their race wire transactions and income.

In New York, T. B. Gittings, Western Union vice president in charge of public relations, said the company has taken steps to prevent illegal use of its leased wires.

He said Western Union has filed with the Federal Communications Commission a revised tariff which provides that the firm will not lease wires for transmitting information to any party which "was not a legitimate newspaper, radio station, or press association."

"Western Union has cooperated to the nth degree, even to the extent of supplying to local law enforcement officials a record of every installation where racing news is supplied," Gittings said.

"The company is only too happy to cooperate with the Ohio officials, or any others, to prevent the illegal use of racing information."

A spokesman for the Utilities Commission said the order, if it is carried out, would hit heavily illegal horse race betting in Ohio.

Gov. Lausche hailed the Commission's action.

The report of the Kefauver committee showed that Continental Press in Ohio was the source and the key to the bookie operations in this commonwealth, the governor declared.

"Practically 100 per cent of their business in Ohio has had a direct and participating connection in the bookie operations. Among others subpoenaed by the commission for the March 19 hearing was Morris Wexler of Cleveland Heights, who, the Commission said, was operator of the now defunct Empire News Service, which was a subsidiary of Continental Press. Wexler also is head of the Telenev Company in Cleveland, the Commission declared.

The Commission said subpoenas had been served on three Steubenville men who the Commission identified as:

Rene Philaster, a telegrapher for the Crowley Publishing Co. of Steubenville, a lessee of Continental Press.

A. J. Eiben, a second telegrapher for Crowley.

J. F. Edwards, listed by Western Union as a race wire subscriber, but whom the Commission said is a fictitious person.

Grafted Babies' Bones Help Korea Wounded GIs Recover

WASHINGTON (AP)—Babies who didn't have a chance are giving some Korean war wounded another chance for a normal life.

The tiny bones of still-born or short-lived babies are being used—with parental permission—to help save the hands and feet of wounded men. Navy doctors told a reporter.

Small leg or arm bones—some of them only a few inches in length—have been found particularly useful in several cases where men had lost parts of bones between the fingers and wrist or between the toes and the ankle.

The infant bones are procured within 24 hours after still-born delivery or after an early death following delivery.

They are preserved until used by a special "freeze-dry" method perfected by scientists of the Naval Medical School at Bethesda, Md., which is commanded by Captain J. L. Enyart.

The grafting operations were performed at the naval hospital

U.S. Planes Down 8 Reds Without Loss

9 U.N. Craft Lost During Week Due To Ground Fire, Mishaps

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—American Sabre jets knocked eight Communist MIG-15s out of North Korean skies in the past week with no loss to themselves, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said today.

But the Air Force, in its weekly summary, said nine U. N. warplanes were lost during the period March 1-7. Red ground fire accounted for five, a mechanical difficulty caused one to crash, and three failed to return for unknown causes.

Eight Damaged

In air-to-air battles the swift Sabre jets also probably destroyed another MIG and damaged eight.

Clouds obscured Red targets in North Korea Saturday. By noon only a few United Nations weather reconnaissance planes were aloft.

Ground action was similarly light after a flurry of Communist probing attacks on the eastern front Friday.

Most of the attacks hit the U. S. First Marine Division. The leathernecks threw them all back.

After the Reds withdrew they hurled a heavy barrage of mortar and artillery fire. The Marines replied with roaring rockets.

Elsewhere along the battlefront only minor patrol clashes broke the quiet.

4,500 Sorties Flown

The weekly Air Force summary said fighters and bombers flew 4,500 sorties during the week ended Friday.

Pilots claimed 285 Red troops killed, 21 locomotives and 180 boxcars destroyed or damaged, seven Red tanks destroyed and three damaged.

B-26 light bombers attacked three Red trains Friday night. Snow flurries prevented observation of results.

In other night attacks, B-29 Superforts dumped 90 tons of bombs on the Wadong rail bridge west of Yangdok.

American naval pilots roared off the decks of carriers Antietam and Valley Forge Friday and cut rails in 215 places. Pilots also claimed destruction of four rail bridges, two railroad flypasses, 25 box cars and 25 small water craft.

CAMDEN L. Wolfe, 23, of Warren, arrested at 2 a. m. today on S. Ellsworth Ave. and charged with drunken driving, was fined $100 and costs this morning by Mayor Harry M. Vincent.

TAFT USES IKE'S "VOICE"—Brotherly love blooms in New Hampshire's snows, as Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), uses a public address system belonging to a backer of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in Meredith, N. H. The Good Samaritan came to the rescue when Taft's public address equipment broke down. Taft immediately used the borrowed mike to blast Eisenhower's candidacy.

Taft Confident As Primary Draws Near

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, expressing confidence of victory for the first time, slugged his way through the rural precincts of New Hampshire today in a windup bid for endorsement of his Republican presidential aspirations.

He told a 1,600 standing-room crowd in the practical arts auditorium at Manchester last night that his reception at a dozen speeches along the campaign road convinced him "I'm going to win the primary next Tuesday."

New Hampshire residents vote Tuesday on presidential candidates and delegates to the national conventions.

Invasion About Over

Beyond some television appearances and the presence in the state of Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who is challenging President Truman for the Democratic nomination, the invasion of New Hampshire's towns was about over.

Most observers thought that Eisenhower's "big name" list of delegates would win most of the state's 14 votes to the Republican presidential nominating convention in Chicago next July.

What would happen on the Democratic side was somewhat problematical.

Truman supporters said they were confident they would roll up a substantial margin for the President in the popularity test and deliver all of the state's eight Democratic delegates to him. Kefauver had hopes of victory.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota also is in the GOP preferential contest but has no delegate candidates entered. A slate of delegates has been entered for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who says he isn't running, but his name is not in the popularity test.

Taft Provided Spark

It was Taft, fighting an absent Eisenhower, who provided the final spark of the campaign.

Taft told a record crowd estimated at 1,400 persons by police Sergeant Michael J. O'Connor in Manchester last night he thinks Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire and Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) had done Eisenhower "a tremendous disservice by bringing him into a contest where it is impossible for him to let the people know how he stands."

Fighting as though his political life were at stake, Taft said at Manchester "Harry Truman and the New Dealers" started the story that Taft couldn't win in November. He denied this vigorously.

"Now the 'me-too' Republicans have picked up the refrain," he said, "They are only following the old defeatist attitude which has beaten the Republicans in many past elections."

"It may be very uncomfortable for them to find themselves eating their words after the Republican convention."

U.S. Soldiers Seen In Prison In Manchuria

Reds Charge Allies With Mistreatment Of War Captives

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—A U. N. truce negotiator today bluntly accused the Communists of secretly imprisoning captured Allied soldiers—including Americans—in Red China.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho called the charge a "fabrication" and a further attempt to delay the armistice negotiations.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, the U. N. negotiator, also accused the Reds of "threatening" the U. N. command in a statement lambasting its treatment of war prisoners.

U.N. Has Evidence

"We have convincing evidence that you are holding prisoners in detention camps outside of Korea without reporting them to our side," Libby said. "This evidence has reached us from too many sources to be ignored or lightly dismissed."

The Communists always have insisted that all war prisoners are held in North Korea. Proof that United Nations prisoners are in Manchuria would weaken Red China's claim that it is not a belligerent in Korea. Chinese troops are called volunteers.

Libby said a number of captured Communist soldiers have told of escorting U. N. prisoners to camps in China.

"One such individual described in detail a prisoner of war processing center in Harbin (deep in central Manchuria) to which he had helped escort captured United Nations personnel," Libby said.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, the spokesman, said the U. N. command had no way of knowing whether these prisoners were among those whose names did not appear on the official Communist prisoner roster turned over to

U.S. Transport Crashes With Eight Aboard

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—A twin-engine U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed into a blizzard-hidden glacier on the side of the famed Jungfrau Peak at twilight yesterday with eight persons reported aboard.

The Swiss Air Force said there was little hope any occupant of the plane could survive both the crash and the bitter temperatures of a 60-mile-an-hour blizzard that raged about the peak.

An army officer sighted the wreckage from the Jungfrau Hotel at Wengernalp. In the 24 hours covering the plane's flight and its discovery, nearly two feet of snow fell on the mountain. Much of the wreckage is covered, the officer reported after scanning the scene with binoculars.

Rescuers set out at once under the direction of Dr. Adolph Widmer of the Swiss Federal Office. They expected to make only slow progress through the mile-a-minute blizzards across deep snow, which is subject to dangerous avalanches.

United Appeal Funds To Be Raised By Salem Churches

FUNDS FOR the "One Great Hour of Sharing," the 1952 United Appeal for relief and reconstruction overseas, will be raised by offerings given by congregations in thousands of individual churches Sunday, March 23.

The program, sponsored by the Central Department of Church World Service of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America, is approved by members of the Salem Ministerial Association, and the churches here will cooperate in the plan.

21 Groups Enlisted

Twenty-one communions and denominations actively are enlisted in the "sharing" and each will conduct individual campaigns within their own fellowships. Thirty-six communions are cooperating.

The united appeal is an active expression of the true spirit of compassionate brotherhood through which Christians in America strive to lessen the suffering among their fellow-beings in other lands.

More than $6,000,000 will be required through the united appeal. A coverall picture of how the money is spent may be seen in last year's report.

Relief program from Jan. 1, 1951, through Dec. 31, 1951, shows that Church World Service has shipped overseas 9,612,594 pounds of clothing, food and miscellaneous supplies, both contributed and purchased, valued at $3,901,985. Cash disbursement totaled $966,757.14.

Total Over 5 1/2 Million

Other money went to aid refugees and a lesser amount to relief and reconstruction bringing the total to more than five and a half million dollars for 1951.

Countries aided in the program are Korea, where more than five million persons are in desperate need; India, where a countless number face starvation; Palestine, Central Europe, Okinawa and Japan. Emergency relief—food, clothing, medicines, shelter and rehabilitation is of continued urgency to alleviate the distress in these areas.

The Angels Are Singing Unto Me

Stephen Foster turns hymn-writer

The grocery man knew the frail man in shabby clothes and old glazed cap was sick and didn't have money to buy fuel to heat his room on Elizabeth Street, so he didn't mind when the lonely man came over to sit in the back of his store and write songs on wrapping paper. Such was the plight of Stephen Foster, the self-taught composer whose folk songs have tugged at the heartstrings of three generations—Stephen Foster, whose father was mayor of Allegheny, Pa., whose father-in-law was a Pittsburgh physician, whose brothers were merchant, lawyer and vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and whose sister married a brother of President James Buchanan.

Starting with the sale of "O, Susanna" for $100 at the age of 22, in 1848, Foster turned out an unbroken chain of hits. He hit his stride at 25 with "Old Folks at Home" and at 26 came out with "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground." At 27 he almost died from smoking black cigars on a river trip to New Orleans but was nursed back to health in Pittsburgh where he wrote "My Old Kentucky Home." At 28 he was drinking as freely as he spent his royalties and his Methodist wife left him. Alone in New York he wrote "I Dream of Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair." And, remembering a promise to an old Negro handy man who had helped raise Jeannie, Foster wrote another masterpiece and called it "Old Black Joe." Jeannie followed her wandering husband to the big city and tried to live with him but in 1880 she gave up, took their small daughter back to Pittsburgh and a little Scotchman named Andrew Carnegie gave her a job as telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

At 35 Stephen Foster sold rights to all his songs, was in debt $1,500 to his publishers, and living alone in flop houses. In an effort to come back, he teamed up with George Cooper of theater and "Sweet Genevieve" fame and wrote and drank harder than ever. At 37 he passed the 200 mark, was drinking his income and dodging relatives and Pious Publisher Horace Waters who tried to help and encourage him to write hymns for his "Golden Harp for Sunday Schools."

On Jan. 12, 1864, George Cooper found Foster burning with fever and bleeding on a floor at 14 Bowery. Apparently the composer had tried to drink water from a glass pitcher on which he had fallen. Receiving Cooper's telegram, Morrison Foster and Jeannie with the light brown hair caught the next train. When they arrived at New York's Bellevue Hospital Stephen Foster was dead. In his pocket was 38 cents and a little piece of wrapping paper like you find in a grocery store on which were written five words. They didn't know whether he had tried to leave a dying note or had scribbled the title for a new song. Through blurred eyes the brother and wife read, "Dear friends and gentle hearts." Of 28 church hymns Stephen Foster wrote, one of them reads:

"When my mother's hands are o'er me spread,
As I kneel, humbly praying by her knee,
When her gentle voice is round me shed,
Then the angels are singing unto me."

When I hear the silv'ry note of love
From the birds gaily singing in the tree,
Then I feel that God still reigns above,
And the angels are singing unto me."

Confident Living

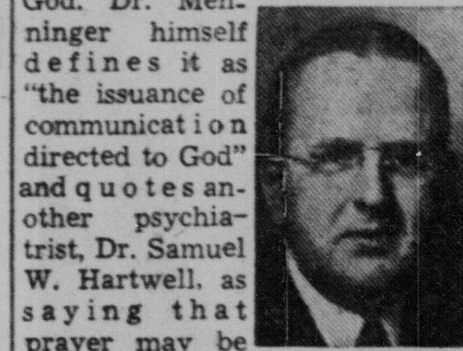

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The Therapy Of Prayer

ONE OF the most distinguished psychiatrists of our time, Dr. Karl Menninger, was sitting in a ward of a psychiatric hospital with a devout colleague. They listened to a recital given by the patients and were particularly impressed by one woman who sang.

After the recital, on the way back to the office, the colleague turned to Dr. Menninger and remarked, "In how many different ways people pray."

For most of us, however, prayer is a more direct approach to God. Dr. Menninger himself defines it as "the issuance of communication directed to God" and quotes another psychiatrist, Dr. Samuel W. Hartwell, as saying that prayer may be a very hygienic and even therapeutic experience because it enables people to put into words certain inner reflections and half conscious wishes under circumstances of intimacy and trust rarely found outside prayer.

A lifelong Presbyterian, Dr. Menninger believes in public worship and feels that there are important values in group assemblage and formal ritual. In church, he believes, you can find mutual stimulation, reinforcement and encouragement from your relationship with other members of the congregation. And the effect of a common relationship to the leader, whether he be pastor, priest or rabbi, is also helpful.

HE GOES ON to quote Alfred B. Haas of Drew University on the therapeutic value of hymns. Because of their emotional associations, hymns reduce anxiety, alleviate a sense of guilt, strengthen inner resolves, bring comfort and divert self-preoccupation. And going to church produces many of the same effects even in those churches where no hymns are sung.

Dr. Menninger is at work on a book on the subject of the relationship of psychiatry to religion and I am looking forward to reading it. I have discussed his comments on prayer and church-going at length because I believe it important to call to the attention of my readers this great scientist's belief that religion is of great therapeutic value in having healthier happier lives.

You will find the call to prayer, to sing hymns, to go to church is urged in the Bible, a book that was written long before the word "psychiatry" was invented, a book that anticipated many of the findings of modern science. The therapy of prayer is not new; it is as old as man.

What can you do to obtain the benefits of this strong therapy? The answer is a simple one and in full accord with Dr. Menninger's recommendations.

FIRST, PRAY. There are many ways of praying and you can very easily make our every act a prayer. But it is important to pray in words, spoken or unspoken to God. Pray in the old-fashioned way you learned when you were a child: Say grace before meals, say a prayer before going to bed at night. And pray in the new way so many people have been finding helpful: Take a few minutes during your working day to have a period of quiet and say a prayer.

Second, go to church. Whatever house of worship you attend, it is a place where you pray in company with others. You obtain the benefit of their prayers; you learn that you are not alone. There is a particular power when "two or three are gathered together."

Third, when you go to church, participate fully. Don't be an on-looker, a man from Mars. Say the responses, if there are any; sing the hymns. Become part of the service. Going to church can be almost meaningless if it becomes only the usual thing to do on Sunday and nothing more. Put yourself into it and you will get lots out of it.

Begin to do these three things, now, today. Don't wait to use the therapy of prayer.

Not A Single Dollar?

TWICE in his speeches on Thursday about foreign aid, President Truman said not a single dollar should be taken from his estimate of $7.9 billion as the minimum requirement for the next fiscal year.

He advised Congress directly not to monkey with this estimate, then clinched the proposition by telling the public at large not to let Congress monkey with it. It will simply not do to appropriate a single dollar less than the enormous amount named, Mr. Truman argues. An appropriation of only $7,999,999,999 might give the Kremlin a free rein, or something equally horrible.

When Mr. Truman puts it this way, he raises some questions which no one in Washington could answer satisfactorily.

Had every adding machine used in this precise calculation of the amount needed to stop the Red conspiracy been double-checked? Could one of them have picked up a billion accidentally?

Were all the figures submitted by all the little officials who made all the guesses which went into the grand total checked over by experts who knew exactly how much would be required to stop the Red conspiracy?

Was anything put into the $7.9 billion total for bargaining purposes?

Is Mr. Truman, who used to be a humble man, now so sure of himself that he actually can figure out these things down to the last dollar?

Or is this another indication of a state of mind in Washington which suggests that a hurry-up call for the psychiatrists is in order?

Education For Security

WHETHER or not the United States ever concedes that military training is part of public education in a strife-torn world, most of its citizens now concede that the good old days of neglecting security between wars are gone forever.

It was not through sheer perversity that compulsory service was adopted in all other countries, but through sheer necessity. Now for the first time the United States is confronted with the same necessity; it cannot depend on someone else to fight in its behalf until it gets ready.

When the House of Representatives was sidetracking universal military training a few days ago, it was diverted for an interval by an alternative proposal—military training in the public school system. That idea is too important to be brushed aside and forgotten.

It would extend the ROTC system, now used in colleges and universities, to high schools. In all probability, it would be patterned after the Swiss system, which aims to prepare boys for possible military service throughout their public school terms. At 20, the boys are sufficiently trained so the remainder of their training can be completed in about three months. Thereafter, every Swiss male is liable for retraining until he is 60. This is widely admired as the most effective security program ever devised.

Presidential Insult

IF MR. TRUMAN had studied since 1945 to learn exactly how to alienate Congress, he couldn't have done a better job than he did in his foreign-aid message.

Nothing inflames feeling between the White House and the Capitol more quickly than a calculated insult. Mr. Truman's declaration that not a single dollar could be or should be taken away from his $7.9 billion estimate of foreign-aid requirements in the new budget was a calculated insult. He is not responsible for appropriation bills.

To make certain the insult could not be construed any other way, Mr. Truman clinched it with a number of broad sneers at the motives of legislators who question his wisdom. He obviously was looking for a fight. He will get it.

Unfortunately, he will get it at the expense of the foreign-aid program, which conceivably might need even more money than he has asked for. At this point in his stormy presidential career Mr. Truman is more interested in stirring up strife than in getting results.

Presidents who want to get along with Congress do not lie awake nights to think up ways to impugn the motives and judgment of the people's representatives and senators.

The good old ruler is often the difference between making a smart pupil and a pupil smart.

The average woman eats less than the average man, according to statistics—and figures!

You'd think the well-known sick friend would get tired of having people sit up with him.

Foreign Policy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

It's Being Conducted In Tragic Atmosphere

WASHINGTON MAYBE $7,900,000,000 is the right amount of foreign aid that Congress should appropriate, and maybe it should be half that sum or maybe some other figure. The very fact that the Congress, including many members of the administration's own party, do not have confidence in the judgment of the President or the secretary of state is proof of the tragic atmosphere in which the nation's foreign policy is being conducted.

High taxes are, of course, resented and Mr. Truman need not have referred to the proposals to cut the foreign-aid program as being merely an election-year phenomenon. For there is a growing antagonism to all foreign aid, not only this year but next year, and this is so serious that Mr. Truman will make a grave mistake if he ascribes it either to party politics or to a failure of the American people to understand the seriousness of the issues involved.

MR. TRUMAN did reveal a certain awareness of the depth of anti-foreign feeling when he endeavored to show how "galantly" Great Britain has been fighting in Malaya, and France in Indo-China. But the truth is there is no enthusiasm for Allied solidarity as such because scarcely a day goes by that the American policy is not condemned in various parts of the world as an attempt to buy good will with money. American motives are being questioned.

The American people are bewildered by the administration's foreign policy. They are being told that billions are needed for defense of the free world, and yet they see the French parliament refusing to tax even moderately for European defense. They read of the statements of both Prime Minister Churchill and the Socialist party opposition as denouncing the government of Chiang Kai-Shek, and they read that support of Chiang is a cardinal part of the American government's policy.

They read the growing casualty lists coming in from Korea every week and they see the United States bearing the brunt of the struggle with the blood of its youth—more than 106,000 killed, wounded or missing. Then they read the President's message to Congress saying that the war in Korea is being waged to prevent a third world war and they remember that it hasn't been waged with maximum force at all.

THIS IS VERY largely because of a veto by the British government, which still recognizes Red China and still feels that the maintenance of its colonial possessions and its trade with Hong Kong is more important than a break with Red China.

So long as Britain and the United States are following divergent courses in the Far East—and the recent debate in the British parliament accentuates the complexity of the problem—just so long it is difficult for the President to argue persuasively that what is being done in Korea represents a world policy or program which all the members of the free world are wholeheartedly supporting.

The weakness in the administration's appeal and the reason it does not carry conviction is that the policies of France and Britain have not been such as to inspire enthusiasm on this side of the Atlantic. Neither Mr. Truman nor Mr. Acheson is to blame for the policies pursued by our allies, though it will be said that perhaps the American position, especially just before Britain told America of her intention to recognize Red China, was not forthrightly presented.

NO MATTER what has happened, however, in the past, the net result now is that foreign policy is not a bipartisan affair in the United States any more than it is at present in Britain, and the difficulties of the United States in carrying on any sort of leadership in the face of the dissension inside the democracies are so great that they cannot be ignored much longer.

More important than the request for the $7,900,000,000 is the necessity for building a better partnership between political factions inside Britain and inside America and between the two English-speaking countries as a whole. For the misunderstandings are growing worse instead of better, and it will be impossible to get a $7,900,000,000 program or anything like it through Congress this election year unless realities are faced frankly and the task of building a new foundation is undertaken in earnest by the President and leaders of both parties here. Spring Training

By TRUMAN TWILL

IN BETWEEN dispatches from baseball training camps here, there and everywhere under the boiling-hot sun, we too, are finding time for spring training.

We are soaking our winter-flabby hands in solutions of salt, acid and gasoline to toughen them up for the killing grind of a long summer schedule.

We are staring wide-eyed into the glare of 120-watt light bulbs to get the old peepers ready for the dazzling sunlight which is going to come along later.

Two or three times a week a pile of 80 concrete blocks is moved from one location to another to prepare weakened back and shoulder muscles for the forthcoming chore of lugging lawn chairs from there to here and back to there to stay in the shade.

Basketball has toughened up the places which need to be toughened up to enjoy baseball double-headers.

Tire-changing practice is routine exercise for the entire Twillery squad in all varieties of weather. Heavy fines are imposed for the clumsy oafs who pinch their fingers while dealing with the consequences of simulated hot-weather blowouts.

A tolerance for iced tea is being built up with soda pop and tap water.

Bending exercises are compulsory for all team mates who expect to take part in gardening activity.

Cat-naps on the living room rug are on the agenda for those who make a practice of dozing off under trees on the greensward during July and August.

The head mechanic is practicing the art of tinkering with machinery without losing his temper in the still-long late-winter evenings.

Supplies of bandages, antiseptic and tourniquets are being built up gradually.

There is the usual spring-training-camp preoccupation with colored illustrations of tree roses, bush roses, peonies, petunias, etc.

The window screen detail has been briefed on its responsibilities.

There is no reason why spring training, or any other kind of special training, should be reserved solely for athletes, who—being athletes—don't need it.

The specimens who need to be brought along systematically to the pink of condition are all of us. Illy-white chair warmers who flip the switch and stroll outside to see what's with springtime.

The same thing happens every time. All of us go berserk. Something inside our heads snaps and the next thing we know we're two-thirds dead from muscle strain, sunburn, fatigue, mashed fingers and toes and sprained tendons.

By the time we fight our way back to health it's Independence Day, and whatever chance we ever had to get off to a flying start is gone for another year.

The way to lick this thing is to start gradually and build up to the opening of the outdoor season. There's nothing that couldn't be taken care of in advance by six weeks spent in a more favorable climate, taking body-building exercises and preparing to deal with the rigors of summer when summer finally arrives.

When New England farmers cleared their land, they often piled loose stones found in the fields at the edges of the fields as fences. Thousands of miles of these stone fences are still in place.

Paddy Young Captures Decision, Awaits Shot At Robinson

Ernie Durando Is Victim In Garden Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Paddy Young, a decisive winner over hard-hitting Ernie Durando, is ready and eager to take on Ray Robinson in a title bout May 16 if the busy Harlem Sugar Man still has his middleweight crown by then.

The 23-year-old Young won the right to meet Ray in Madison Square Garden in a heart-fund show by his second triumph over the stocky Durando in the Garden last night.

But before Young can step into the ring with the 160-pound king, he'll have to wait and see how Robinson fares in his title fight with Carl (Bobo) Olson in San Francisco next Thursday and with Rocky Graziano in Chicago April 16.

In addition to all of these mid-dleweight scraps, Robinson may box Light Heavyweight Joey Maxim for the 175-pound diadem in New York this summer. Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said "It's all up to Ray. Maxim is willing," he added.

AFTER DECISIVELY out-pointing Durando in the Garden ten rounder witnessed by a crowd of 9,468 (gross gate $35,894), Young said he always had wanted to meet Robinson.

Durando, a powerful hitter with his right, rocked Paddy four times with his pet punch in the first round. And it looked like curtains for the blond New Yorker. But Paddy shook off the effects of the wallop and gave his crude rival a good going over through most of the fight.

He stabbed his swarthy foe with left jabs, belted him with left hooks and right swings to the head and body and took most of the steam out of him. There were no knockdowns.

Officials all voted for Young: Referee Barney Felix, 5-4-1; Judge Joe Agnello, 7-3; and Judge Bert Grant, 6-3-1.

In four meetings with Durando, all thrillers, Young has scored two victories, lost once and drawn in another.

Young weighed 159 and Durando 157½.

Spring Training Camp Briefs

Bradenton, Fla. (AP)—Lefty Warren Spahn will work the first three innings for the Boston Braves today as the Tribe gets the exhibition series underway against the Brooklyn Dodgers in Miami.

Dick Donovan will pitch the middle three frames for Boston and one of three rookies—Dick Hoover, Bert Thiel or Virgil Jester—will finish up.

Tucson, Ariz.—New York Giant cleanup hitter Monte Irvin believes he will improve on his .312 batting average of 1951 this season.

"They are not going to get me swinging for the fences any more," he said. "That's what hurt early last year. When I started meeting the ball wherever it was and letting the hits fall wherever they could, I didn't have any more trouble. I don't care whether I never hit another homer."

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Billy Martin has the inside track at the moment for the regular third base job on the New York Yankees.

Manager Casey Stengel said "Martin played third base for me in Oakland. He says he can play third base up here. I want to see whether he can."

Orlando, Fla.—Manager Jimmy Dykes has this philosophy about the Grapefruit League contests which start for his Philadelphia Athletics today:

"This is the time to experiment. Victory is secondary. It's form that counts. If a fellow plays every inning of the exhibitions he's going to be too tired to play the regular schedule of 134 games when the season starts."

Dykes sends his charges against the Washington Senators with Ed Burtschy, Harry Byrd and Mike Kume slated to do the pitching.

Columbus East, Grand Rapids, Defending Champions, Beaten In Tourney Action Last Night

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS (AP)—The race for Ohio's high school basketball championships was a wide open free-for-all today.

Both defending champions—Class A Columbus East and Class B Grand Rapids—were ousted in overtime tussles last night.

And with them went three former Class A kings and a Class B Goliath which had racked up 24 straight conquests.

Columbus East, winner of 20 in a row this year and boasting an unbeaten streak of 36, was the victim of a 23-21 "control" upset at the hands of Columbus Aquinas which had been beaten 11 times in 22 previous tries.

The score by quarters in that one looked more like baseball as East counted 7, 8, 4, 2 and 0 in the five periods. Aquinas had 7, 10, 2 and 2. The Aquinas clincher came with less than five seconds to play in the overtime, on the only shot attempted in the extra session.

A FREE THROW with only 24 seconds left in the overtime period dashed Grand Rapids' hopes as Gibsonburg came up with a 57-56 win at Fremont—the victors going into the Toledo regional. Grand Rapids had won 19 of 20, and Gibsonburg carries a 23-2 record.

Also ousted as the huge fields were whittled down for tonight's district finals were Newark's 1936-38-43 Class A champions, Springfield's Wildcats, the 1925 and 1950 victors, and Dayton Roosevelt's 1934 winners.

NEWARK WAS a 40-39 victim of Columbus North. Springfield dropped a 40-33 tilt to West Milton which ran its record to 18-0, and Dayton Roosevelt was beaten 53-43 by Middletown's 1944-46-47 champions.

Bermea, which had swept aside 24 straight foes, was victimized 55-43 by Marysville which had dropped four of 21 in the Central District finals at Westerville.

Only three unbeaten clubs remain in the state, of the 1116 which started the season. All see action tonight. Steubenville's Big Red, with a 24-0 record, bumps into Wellsville at St. Clairsville in tonight's top contest. Wellsville, powered by big, high-scoring Bevo Francis, has been beaten but once in 24 starts, and Steubenville did it. The stage is set for Wellsville's attempt to vengeance.

West Milton puts its 18-0 A rating against Miamisburg (13-7) tonight at Troy. The other clear mark is the 22-0 record of Waynesburg's Mohawks, who finished a notch behind Grand Rapids in last year's Class B finals. To get into the regional, Waynesburg must get by Independence, beaten once in 20 games, tonight at Kent.

Akron North (15-5), Toledo Central Catholic (18-4) and Cincinnati Withrow (19-2) won regional berths in last night's frays in Class A. In Class B, Nelsonville (19-3), Marysville (18-4) and Gibsonburg (23-2) moved on to regional play, leaving 13 in each Class to be decided tonight.

West Milton puts its 18-0 A rating against Miamisburg (13-7) tonight at Troy. The other clear mark is the 22-0 record of Waynesburg's Mohawks, who finished a notch behind Grand Rapids in last year's Class B finals. To get into the regional, Waynesburg must get by Independence, beaten once in 20 games, tonight at Kent.

Middlecoff Leads St. Petersburg Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The duel between Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Jack Burke, Jr., of Houston, Texas, for the money-winning championship of the winter golf circuit was getting hotter today.

As the $10,000 St. Petersburg Open tournament entered the third round, Middlecoff led by two strokes. He sought to break Burke's three-tournament winning streak and gain ground in their battle for top money-making honors.

The one-time Tennessee dentist fired a 65, seven under par and just one stroke off the competitive record for the 6,233-yard Lakewood Country Club course, in yesterday's second 18-hole round to vault from sixth place into the lead with 133.

Wellsville Is Victor, 96-58; Meets Steubenville Tonight

The Wellsville Bengals will face Steubenville Big Red tonight after taking a decisive win last night at St. Clairsville over Barnesville, 96-58.

Aided by Bevo Francis and his 54 points, the Bengals hooped through 55 markers in the first two quarters. Twenty-five markers dropped through in the initial period as Barnesville was held to 17. The Bengals fired through 30 points in the second quarter and held a 55-28 lead when the teams paused for intermission.

Wellsville came back with quarters of 22 and 19, respectively, in the second half while holding the losers to just 30 points in the entire two quarters.

Francis had a good night from the field as he popped 30 shots and managed to guide 24 of them and added six foul shots to total his 45 markers.

Charles Hanlon, tallest Barnesville player at 6'11", put through 28 points for the losers.

The Barnesville five had tallied 102 points previously in the season and had hit the 90s two other times.

The Bengals-Big Red game will be carried over East Liverpool's WOHI radio station and also over a Steubenville radio.

Tribe Plays First Exhibition Game Today Against Giants

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Bob Kerrigan, a rookie southpaw, may have more at stake than any other member of the Cleveland Indians in the club's exhibition schedule opener today with the New York Giants.

Kerrigan, who didn't get into pro baseball until after the war, is 29, and in his own words "not getting any younger, you know." Last season he had a 14-8 record with San Diego. And he faces the task of winning a place on one of the best hurling staffs in the majors.

Manager Al López planned to use him for three innings today after Bob Lemon and before Rookie Ray Narleski. López said Kerrigan, a stout redhead who looks and throws something like the New York Yankees' Eddie Lopat, "Looks pretty good."

LOPEZ IS eyeing Kerrigan, a control pitcher, as a possible reliever. "He gets the ball over, which is what you want in a relief man," López said.

In an intrasquad game earlier this week, Kerrigan displayed a variety of breaking stuff and a sneaky fast ball. He retired three men with the bases loaded.

Del Baker, who managed San Diego while Kerrigan posted a 3.12 earned run average last year, has recommended him highly.

Centerfielder Larry Doby, who sprained his left ankle slightly in the batting cage yesterday, probably will miss today's lifter of the 39-game exhibition slate.

MONTE KENNEDY is expected to start for the Giants, who slugged the Cleveland hurlers mightily last spring. The Indians have 19 exhibition contests with the National League champions this season, including the entire April swing eastward.

While the Tribe's "A" team is playing here, a "B" squad will be opposing the Chicago Cubs at Mesa, Ariz. Bob Chakales, Lloyd Dickey and George Zverink have the Tribe pitching assignments for that one.

Sunday is another two-game day for the Indians, with the "A" squad playing at the Giants' base in Phoenix and the "B" team meeting the Cubs here.

There's a game every day from now through April 13, except for one open date, March 31. The pennant race opens for Cleveland in Chicago on April 15.

Junior High Final Scheduled Today

Tournament action in the Junior High School 17th annual event saw the Salem A squad and Columbiana come up with victories, the two teams meeting today to decide the champion of the tourney.

Columbiana and Minerva had a rough game yesterday at the Memorial Building but the Clippers came out on top, 25-23, a mere two-point victory.

Carrollton was tripped by the Salem outfit, 38-24, in the first of the two tilts. The Quakers are the defending champions.

Salem and Columbiana will meet at 3:00 today to decide the winner of the tourney while Minerva and Carrollton will clash to determine the consolation victor.
